

NRC. Statement on the Second Anniversary of Full-Scale Invasion

KYIV CITY, Feb 24, 2024 –Today, February 24, marks the second anniversary of Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine in 2022. Though Ukraine has won many battles, the war for Ukraine's right to exist as an independent, democratic nation rages on, at a very steep humanitarian cost.

The war that Russia has been waging against Ukraine has already claimed the lives of thousands of people in Ukraine. The Russian leadership continues to grossly violate numerous international norms and agreements. Among other things, the Russian authorities and their supporters are responsible for the abduction and illegal detention of Ukrainian citizens, torture, murder, the creation of filtration camps, the removal of Ukrainian children to the Russian Federation and their adoption there. Tens of thousands of war crimes and violations of international humanitarian norms have been recorded, which were committed by the military personnel of the Russian army during the occupation of the territories of Ukraine.

The work of eliminating the numerous consequences of the war, such as demining territories, restoring infrastructure, helping traumatized people and restoring the rights of victims of the war, will require serious investments by the Ukrainian state and the international community for many decades to come.

The countdown to the Victory of Ukraine began from the victory near Kyiv. The path to the Victory will not be easy, but we cannot stop and have no right to be tired. Everyone in their place must do their best for it. All the more the whole civilized world is helping us nowadays: the war clearly demonstrated who was our enemy and who was a true and reliable friend. We became closer to our partners, we got new opportunities for cooperation (see the material below). We are strong together! We will win together!
